Thinking

What events are my friends attending?

What types of events am I looking for?

What work or tests do I have coming up?

How much time should I allotcate for this event?

Was this event what I needed or what I was looking for?

What problem did I face in the process of finding events?

What are some popular events on social media?

Am I interested in this event?

Am I caught up in my workload?

How much work do I have to do for me to not stress?

Would I recommend this event to my friends?

Do I still have work that I still have to catch up on?

Would I still go to the event if my friend cannot go?

Did I manage my time poorly? Why am I so busy?

Will I come back again? Do I want to keep updated?

This event sounds fun!

I don't want to go to events alone.

Will I have enough time to attend?

Will I have enough time to finish my work?

Happy to be here at this event!

I am stressed because I did not finish my work.

Will it be worth it going to the event?

I don't want to meet new people.

I am too stressed about my workload and midterm.

I want to make new friends at this event.

I don't want to waste my time.

I am excited to go to the event!

I am anxious because I do not know anyone here.
